A very informative talk on Addiction-Free India was delivered by Milind Patil. They had mentioned the problem of Addictions such that Addictions generally began as something to try for fun and then evolved to a dependency for comfort. If a person did not recognize and stop this dependency, it could become an addiction. Often this happens before the person is even aware of this happening. This level of dependency could become an obstacle to a person's functioning in society. It also has adverse effects on their mental health and can aggravate existing problems.

It is also something that harms one's health and then begins affecting friends and family's lives. The rate at which addiction could cause destruction goes beyond the individual themselves.
